

Presbyterian Mission
Mission Engagement & Support

René Myers is a Mission Engagement Advisor for the Presbyterian Church (USA) serving in the Synods of Alaska-Northwest, the Pacific, Southern California and Hawaii, and The Southwest. Her role is to build relationships with mid-councils, congregations and Presbyterians which sustain and increase financial support for God's mission throughout the world. She will interpret and promote the mission of the Presbyterian Mission Agency and is experienced in developing congregational giving and major gifts from individuals. She is available to consult with church leaders to broaden congregational mission impact.

By action of the General Assembly, the Presbyterian Mission Agency provides leadership, resources and program direction for specific ministries in order to inspire, equip and connect the church to God's mission. The program areas of the Agency are:

- Presbyterian World Mission
- Compassion, Peace and Justice
- Racial Equality and Intercultural Ministries
- Theology, Formation and Evangelism

René has held her position with the Presbyterian Mission Agency since November, 2011. Prior to that, she spent two decades in fundraising and stewardship with the church and non-profit organizations. She resides in southern California with her husband, Bruce (Presbyterian pastor) and daughter, Rachel.
